

GLASS MAGIC

Pippa Stacey has sent us some examples resulting from her latest venture with her magic lantern. She writes: "We have a fantastic workshop in Granville Park (south-east London) offering a range of glass courses that I run with my colleague Jane Ross for Adult Learning Lewisham. Recently I set one of my adult education glass classes the task of making a lantern slide using the technique of kiln carving. I took my lantern into the workshop and set up a sheet on the storeroom door. It worked really well – but you wouldn't believe the risk assessment my line manager insisted I did before the event! Here are some of the results."

The four images on the right show some examples of the slides made by Pippa's students.

Pippa has recently shown her new coloured 'Spin-me' bowls (see left) at a local gallery. She projected some of her beautiful handmade chromatropes for MLS members at the AGM in January (see TML 30).
